This is an extract from the BALM OF GILEAD [illegible] with a few other ingredients. Each one, like the Balm of Gilead, is a medicine of itself. The formula of this oil has been examined by some of the most eminent physicians, and pronounced by them to do all it is recommended.

FOR SORE THROAT, HOARSENESS, Inflammation of the Throat and Mouth, Colic, Cholera Morbus, Sores of most all kinds on man or beast, and excelling all others for scratches on horses.

WE WARRANT EVERY BOTTLE.

No better medicine for Headache, Toothache, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pains in the Side, Back or Stomach, than the Genuine Balm of Gilead Oil. "Is there no Balm in Gilead?" No Physician there? Prove all things; hold fast that which is good."

Prominent among its many cures are BURNS, SCALDS, FRESH CUTS, SPRAINS, BRUISES, FROST IN LIMBS, DIARRHŒA and PILES.

Can furnish testimonials for nearly all of the above complaints, by those who have used it. Remember, every bottle warranted.

For sale by every Druggist in this city.

To the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Penobscot:

The undersigned, administratrix of the estate of Joel H. Johnson, late of Levant, in said County, deceased, respectfully represents that the goods and chattels, rights and credits of said deceased are not sufficient to pay his just debts and charges of administration, by the sum of about four hundred dollars. Wherefore your petitioner prays your Honor to grant her a license to sell, at public or private sale, and convey all the right of redemption of the homestead of the deceased, situate in said town of Levant, [illegible] all of the real estate of the deceased, [illegible] the reversion of the widow's dower therein, to satisfy said debts, expenses of sale and charges of administration.

To the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Penobscot:

The undersigned, administratrix of the estate of Elisha [illegible] Palmer, late of Brewer, in said County, deceased, respectfully represents that the goods and chattels, rights and credits of said deceased are not sufficient to pay his just debts and charges of administration, by about two hundred and fifty dollars. Wherefore your petitioner prays your Honor to grant her a license to sell, at public or private sale, [illegible] of the real estate of which said deceased died seized [illegible] to improvements. [illegible] the residue would be greatly depreciated by a partial sale [illegible] the entire [illegible] including the reversion of the widow's dower therein, to satisfy said debts, expenses of sale and charges of administration.

Adamson's BOTANIC BALSAM!

Only 35 Cents. An unfailing Remedy for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Bronchitis, Influenza, Soreness of the Throat, Chest and Lungs, and all diseases leading to Consumption.

$5000 for an Incurable Case.

[From a Distinguished Lawyer of Boston.]

MR. FRANK KINSMAN—Dear Sir—I desire to say a word in behalf of your Adamson's Cough Balsam. I have been a sufferer from a very severe cough from the first of last November, trying a great many [illegible] without any [illegible] [illegible] permanent improvement, until the middle of [illegible] [illegible] I tried the small sample [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] no more, for which I have [illegible] [illegible] the cough entirely left me. The result [illegible] [illegible] I have very [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] in every instance with marked success.

Respectfully yours, CHAS. C. NUTTER

Several bottles of Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam have been used in my family with the most gratifying results. We esteem it as one of the best of medicines.

$5000 GOLD!

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Beware of Counterfeits and Imitations.

The high reputation gained by ADAMSON'S BOTANIC COUGH BALSAM for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bleeding of the Lungs and Consumption, has given rise to spurious compounds. The genuine ADAMSON'S BOTANIC COUGH BALSAM is prepared only by FRANK W. KINSMAN, Sole Proprietor. To protect yourself from imposition, examine the bottle and see that the words "F. W. Kinsman, Druggist, Augusta, Maine," are blown in the glass of the bottle. $5000 for a better article.

"DON'T FAIL TO TRY IT."

The following are a few of the names of those who have used the Balsam: Mr. Gov. Coney, Mrs. Hon. James W. Bradbury, Anson P. Morrill, ex-Governor of Maine, Mrs. Col. Thomas Lambard, Mrs. Col. GILES'

LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA.

A MESSAGE TO THE SUFFERING.

When a remedy is productive of such relief as to exceed all other remedies in its curative results, it is a duty to make it known as generally as possible. [illegible] consideration has actuated the proprietor, WM. M. GILES, to bring before the public this LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA.

The remarkable cures it has effected class it as one of the most important and valuable remedies ever discovered for the cure and relief of pain in any form. It cures Neuralgia, Face Ache, Rheumatism, Gout, Frosted Feet, Chilblains, Sore Throat, Erysipelas, Bruises and Wounds of every nature in man. The effects of external application are almost magical, and to which its internal administration is found to be most efficacious. Physicians prescribe it for their patients and accord it their unhesitating approval. [illegible] The Liniment Iodide of Ammonia is successfully used in the [illegible] establishments, and where large numbers of horses are provided for, and where there is a liability to the visitation of a class of contagious diseases for which this preparation is a recognized remedy. No stable should be without it, for it is valuable and readily [illegible] that is not supplied with it.

We append a few of the many testimonials, [illegible] money to the advertiser [illegible] the public.

A TRIED AND SURE CURE!

This remedy is the result of the researches of one of our [illegible] who has been a great sufferer for years, and who had tried all the advertised remedies and the skill of many physicians without obtaining relief. A radical cure was obtained, and numerous other cures effected among his friends. [illegible]

It is an Infallible Remedy, if persevered in, for those painful maladies of Rheumatism and Neuralgia, as testimonials, too abundant to give in this advertisement, will show. Among these are those of Mrs. Judge Appleton, Bangor; W. M. Talbott, J. M. Merrill, [illegible] [illegible] H. Emery, and others of Bangor; W. J. Mitchell, of the Eveleth House, Moosehead Lake; Alvan R. Currie, of Eddington, a sufferer for fourteen years, and at times helpless. Having tried the best known remedies and the skill of physicians without effect, after using seven bottles, he has been restored to health, and gives his grateful testimony.

It is an internal remedy, acting on the blood, [illegible] and imparting tone and healthy action to the system. It may be used by children and those of the most delicate constitution with perfect safety. Full directions with each bottle.

Price $1 per bottle, $10 per dozen. Liberal discount to the trade. For sale by Druggists generally.

"IT'S ALL QUIET THERE NOW."

Eli Perkins among the Fire Eaters of Louisiana.

He is Received as a Brother and Treated as a Confidant.

The Narrative of Coushatta is Reported by an Honest Bandit Who Participated in the Deliberations at That Point.

Who Suggests the Simplest Plan Yet Heard of for Restoring Peace to the Entire State.

By Means Similar to Those Used at Coushatta, Which Place is Now as Peaceful and Quiet as a Small Pox Hospital.

[From [illegible] Correspondence [illegible]]

I have just returned from Shreveport, La. After being Colonel Morrowized in the Shreveport restaurant by unreconstructed rebels for two days, I've concluded to write on the side of the bandits. I am for the White League because they told me privately that if Grant would take away Sheridan and the Federal troops they would bring peace to Louisiana and settle the whole matter in thirty-six hours!

"How?" I asked grasping several friends' hands at once.

"Why, Mr. Perkins, we'd kill every dog-on Republican son of a gun or run him out of Louisiana before the mail could get to Washington. Then we'd have peace, wouldn't we, eh?" and the White Leaguer looked gently down at the muzzle of his pistol.

I told him I thought they would.

"Why," continued the White Leaguer, as he put a cartridge in his six-shooter, "we used to have trouble down in Coushatta. We had anarchy down there and war, but we made everything tranquil one day. When we hung the six planters, and now it is as peaceful and quiet down there as a small-pox hospital!"

A moment afterward I went into a restaurant with a White Leaguer. In fact I was dined and wined by White Leaguers all the time I was in Shreveport. They made a confidant of me. I'm not going to take sides in the great question, but I'm going to tell you just what this White Leaguer said. I'm going to give you his exact words, which shows I am on the side of the Bandits.

THE STORY OF COUSHATTA.

"Will you tell me the story of the Coushatta murder?" I asked that White Leaguer as he swallowed his dish of copper-lined New Orleans oysters.

"Yes, I will tell you how we brought peace to Coushatta," he replied. Then, laying his navy revolver down on the table, he commenced:

"You know, Mr. Perkins, that Coushatta is a little Yankee town down in Red River Parish, 65 miles South of Shreveport, on Red River?"

"It's a town, did I understand you to say, Mr. Bruce?"

"Yes, it's a town—a stirring, exciting, troublesome Yankee town, but we've made it peaceful down there now! You bet your bottom dollar we have! We had to clean out the whole town and kill a few 'Yanks' and 'Darks,' but it's all quiet there now!"

"How was it? Tell me the facts!" I exclaimed, as I tremblingly lifted up another oyster.

"Well," continued the Leaguer, "You know in 1871 six Yankee planters settled in Coushatta. They were Homer J. Twitchell, Clark Holland, W. F. Howell, Henry Scott, a Mr. Cone, and a Mr. De Wees. These Damyankees began to raise cotton and get our 'niggers' away from us to work for them. Before these 'Yanks' came, we could hire likely 'niggers' for seven dollars a month, but they demoralized them by paying the greedy rascals twelve dollars a month, and then we old time Southerners had to pay the same price, and we could not get the 'Darks' at that. They preferred to work for the Yankees. In a little while, by working and managing and stealing, these Damyankees built up the town of Coushatta till it had 1,400 people—1,100 darkies and 300 whites. Then they went down to New Orleans and got the Legislature to make a new parish—Red River Parish. They formed it from a portion of De Soto Natchitoches, Bienville, Caddo, and Bossier. De Wees and Twitchell got the bill through. Then these Yankee scoundrels put up a heap of stores and houses, laid sidewalks, and built a court house, and feathered out generally. They swelled around in New Orleans clothes, and lived in frame houses with carpets and iron stoves. They did not know that we few old soldiers over on the ridge were a gettin' ready to scoop the whole Yankee concern. But great guns! didn't we scoop 'em though? Didn't we!"

"How was this 'scooping' done?" I asked innocently.

"Why, in the first place, Eli, some of our Red River fellows—R. S. Jones and A. T. Williams—got up a fuss with a lot of these Yankeeized darkies. They got up a row with Darkey Dick, Tom Jones, and Dan Winn. We had to push the cowards into it and kick 'em round a good deal to get 'em to show fight, but we did it. Yes, we had to insult 'em a good deal to make 'em show their teeth, but you know, Eli, that the biggest coward will fight if you push him hard enough. I tell you, Eli, a Yankee or a Yankee nigger does hate to get into a muss with our old Louisiana fellows. You bet he does! We shoot, we do! Well, this 'nigger row' was on the 25th of last August—cotton pickin' time; and just the time when we wanted to 'raise hell' with the Yankees! The next day after the fuss with Tom Jones and Dan Winn, eight of our Red River fellows, old soldiers, and the best fighters on the river, rode down on the river, rode down into the edge of Coushatta, intending to arrest the 'niggers' who didn't show us proper respect the day before. We got our revolvers on Winn and fetched him in easy; but Tom Jones he rebelled. He said he wouldn't be taken without a warrant, Tom did, and he ran into a house and fired and killed Mr Brotherton, one of the best shots in our crowd. This raised the devil, and in five minutes we sailed in and killed both Dan and Tom and every 'nigger' we could lay our hands on. We cleaned out the whole crowd, and frightened the whole town of Coushatta till every nigger and Yankee trembled in his boots. Then we rode back into the country, peacefully and quietly, to consult. We made up our minds that this was the time to get rid of these Damyankee planters who were demoralizing labor, paying the darkies big wages and getting rich, and swelling round in Yankee buggies and white shirts, while we, poor old Confederit soldiers, had to ride on horseback, and wear hickory shirts."

"Well, how did you get rid of these miserable Yankees?" I asked, deeply interested.

"This way, Mr. Perkins: The next night there was to be a white ball in Coushatta. All the boys were on hand, armed and ready to shoot, but we couldn't get a chance. Not a nigger or a Yankee showed himself. We found they were frightened to death. We told 'em we were going to kill 'em, and they had got together in a school house to defend themselves. The Yankees—Twitchell and Cone, and Holland, and Howell, and Scott—were with them. They were an awfully scared set—these 'Yanks' and 'Darks' were. I can't help laughing when I think of it now—Well, after our fellows got pretty full of whiskey, Red River Sam came in and said the niggers and Yankees were arming to attack us in the ball-room. Sam said they were going to kill women and children—That was a good joke," said Mr. Bruce, putting his finger to his nose, "when the 'Yanks' and 'nigs' were trembling in their boots; but it answered the purpose. It set the boys agoing. We immediately telegraphed to Shreveport that the 'niggers' were rising to massacre the whites! The operator told them to fly for their lives. This set Shreveport in a frenzy. They thought it was so. Every man seized his pistol, buckled on his sword, mounted a horse, and started pell-mell for Coushatta. They seized the horses from every darky in Shreveport. If the darkey rebelled, a pistol shot fixed him. All Shreveport came pouring down on Coushatta. Would this, because we didn't know but the damniggers might fight, and that we might need all. Well, from the ballroom we started for the Darkey quarter—shooting right and left. They were so frightened that they broke and ran in all directions; but the boys were excited, and they shot a few, seized the horses belonging to the others, and captured the six Yankee planters."

"What did you do with them?" I asked.

"Why, we told them their time had come. We told them that their niggers had shot Brotherton, and that we intended to kill the last mother's son of 'em! They begged for their lives. Lord, how they begged! Some of them fell on their knees. Twitchell and Howell did. We finally told them if they would leave the State and never come back, we'd spare their lives."

"'We will leave the State if you'll guard us as far as Shreveport,' said Twitchell.

"'All right, we will promise to guard you,' said our fellows; and twenty of them started off with the Damyankee rascals toward Shreveport, and we did intend to take them safely to Shreveport. But our telegrams had alarmed the Red River country. The League boys came riding in armed to the teeth, to suppress a nigger rebellion, as they supposed. When they saw the Yankees with us they thought we had quelled the rebellion, stopped the massacre, and that we had the leaders arrested. Good joke, wasn't it?" And the narrator laughed a loud haw! haw! "Well," continued my friend, "the White League fellows came in so strong that we found we could not begin to protect the six Yankees. We told them so. Then they begged for their pistols to protect themselves. I think it was a dogon shame that our fellows didn't give 'em their pistols, I swear it was; but they didn't, and the Red River League rode in with muskets and revolvers and muskets and pushed our fellows back. Then they took the Yankees, put ropes around their necks, shot 'em through the legs a little, and scared 'em till they dropped on their knees and begged for God's [illegible] and their —"

"What, for Heaven's sake? what?" I asked.

"Why, they shot 'em and riddled 'em with bullets, and—now there's peace in Coushatta!"

"And Grant and Sheridan—?"

"Why, if they want peace in all Louisiana, let 'em call off the troops, and our Red River fellows will settle up the whole State as we did Coushatta. You bet we will! Don't you believe it?"

I told him I did. Then I took [illegible] hand, thanked him for giving me so much light on the subject, and promised to write to Jay Gould, the manager of the New York Tribune, a sweet letter about the patriotic services of these high-toned White Leaguers and Christian Bandits of Louisiana—these simple, childlike peacemakers of Coushatta. "May Heaven always protect them!" I said. From yours truly,

ELI PERKINS.

It is said that the wife of Capt. James Langley of the Schooner Henrietta, a Portland vessel, recently picked up abandoned, received a letter from him while he was at Vineyard Haven, in which he spoke discouragingly of ever being able to bring the Henrietta safe into Portland. He thought he was overloaded and feared he should tip up and roll over. The theory among seamen seems to be that what Capt. Langley feared actually happened to his vessel. It is reported that when the schooner was picked up her decks were swept clean. From this latter fact many reason that the crew were lost, although some yet are looking to hear of them being taken off by a passing vessel.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES.

The Republican voters of the City of Bangor are requested to meet in Caucus at CITY HALL, on FRIDAY EVENING, March 5th, 1875, at 7½ o'clock P. M., to nominate a candidate for Mayor.

Also, on SATURDAY EVENING, March 6th, 1875, at 7½ o'clock, at the usual places of ward meeting in the several wards, to nominate candidates for Alderman, Councilmen and ward officers, to be voted for at the next municipal election, and to transact any other business that may properly come before said meetings.

Per order of the Republican City Committee.
EDWARD E. SMALL, Chairman.
February 27, 1875.

OUR CITY ELECTION.

The published call of the Republican City Committee for the municipal caucuses next Friday evening reminds us of our approaching city election, and the despatches from other cities announcing the results of their local canvass, show sufficient Democratic activity to warn the Republicans of Bangor that it is time to be up and doing. The capture of the Portland Mayoralty and Judgeship by the opposition was not altogether unexpected by those who have observed and deprecated the unwise counsels which have prevailed among the Republican leaders of that city; and the event only proves that a policy of disorganization inevitably leads to such disaster. There were undoubtedly hundreds of Republicans in Portland Monday evening thoroughly chagrined that their apathy and inharmony enabled the grog-shop combinations and naturalization mills to decide the choice of the chief officers of the city, and their lesson should be profitable to us in advance of our own election.

It devolved upon Bangor last Fall to make good the losses sustained in Portland from causes similar to those which have resulted still worse this Spring, and we should go to work at once to sustain our record as the banner city. Last September, while Portland made a loss of over four hundred and barely saved the Republican State ticket, Bangor made a net gain of over six hundred, and elected every Republican candidate by a handsome majority. We have only to take hold in earnest immediately to insure an equally gratifying result next Monday.

No thoughtful Republican can fail to see that the political outlook of the country is such as to demand the earnest effort of every loyal citizen to strengthen the only party which can be relied upon to stay the reactionary schemes which threaten to undermine all the important results of our great National struggle. If any fail to see this, they should be reminded by the Democratic utterances on every side. At the recent Bourbon banquet in this city at which the names of leading rebels and unconverted advocates of secession were those most highly honored, the exercises were diversified between the reading of letters from John Young Brown, the ex-Confederate General Gordon and others of that stamp, and speeches like that of the late Democratic candidate for Governor in this State, who urged the importance of hastening the Democratic jubilee by carrying local elections wherever possible. At the very time when the sympathizers with rebellion were jollifying in Bangor over their hopes of a Bourbon restoration, the arch-traitor, Jeff Davis was again travelling through the South stirring up the embers of revolution and bidding his followers be of good cheer.

Every election in the Northern States, and especially in those of New England, is of unusual importance at this time. The country has already become alarmed at the evidence that the Northern Democracy is again under the control of the most disloyal element of the South, and the people of every city and town in Maine should recognize the danger involved in this attempt to establish the men of the Confederacy in control at Washington.

In Bangor our Republicans should permit no dissensions or differences to afford aid and comfort to the common enemy, but we should take hold together to maintain our position in the van of the Republican army. In Portland the Democrats gained a heavy advantage by industry in getting voters on the lists, and we should see to it that every Republican name is properly entered on the books in this city. The Aldermen will be in session for revising the lists on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, and now is the time to look up cases requiring attention.

THE "FORCE BILL."

Our exchanges fail to bring us the text of the Force bill, or to afford any other explanation of the effect of the amendments in removing its obnoxious features than is given in the report of the debate, which shows that the measure was opposed throughout by the ablest and most reliable Republicans in the House. The correct statement of the vote proves to be 135 yeas to 114 nays, and the complete tally-list shows that the affirmatives embraced nearly all the members who have failed of re-election, a large proportion of the mere politicians, and nearly all the Southern Representatives, while such trusty Republican leaders as Dawes, Garfield, Judge Hoar, G. F. Hoar, Eugene Hale, J. R. Hawley, S. W. Kellogg, C. W. Willard and many other of the best men of the party voted with the minority against the bill. In the absence of direct knowledge of the details of the measure as put to vote, it is safe to assume that its objectionable features have not been eliminated, or it would not have encountered the unyielding opposition of these men whose devotion to the principles of the Republican party is beyond all question.

It is stated that the Messrs. Hoar are convinced that some additional legislation is needed to protect the rights of citizens in the South, but neither, was willing to give his indorsement to the provisions of this bill; and the opposition of the men we have cited is hardly less significant than the brow-beating championship of the measure by that prince of demagogues and mischief-makers, General Butler. The fact that Butler has always appeared at his best upon questions relating to the supremacy of the National authority and the rights of the colored race, would prevent a hasty condemnation of a measure of this character on account of his prominent advocacy; but when he is found provoking the antagonism of the very best men in the House, their relative positions would indicate at once that he is engaged in one of his characteristic raids.

As we remarked yesterday, we want no more partisan legislation and no reckless straining of constitutional powers. It is plainly the opinion of the clearest minds in the House of Representatives that the bill just adopted is not entitled to public sanction and notwithstanding the efforts which will undoubtedly be made to push it through the Senate in the excitement of the closing session we hope that it will be disposed of by that more considerate and judicious body.

STAUNCH REPUBLICANS.

The Democratic papers have sought to flatter their readers into the belief that the election of U. S. Senators in Wisconsin and Minnesota promised advantage to the party of reaction, but their assumptions were groundless. A Washington special says that "Hon. Angus Cameron, the successor of Senator Carpenter, arrived Saturday morning. There can be no further doubt as to his Republicanism. He unqualifiedly authorizes the statement that he shall enter the Republican caucus and act with the Republican party." And in his address before the Legislature of Minnesota, after his election as United States Senator, Judge McMillan said: "It is due to you, members of both parties, due to the people that elected you, and due to myself, that I should define my political position. I have always been a Republican and expect to continue to be! In view of the circumstances attending this election, I consider the honor you have conferred not so much as a personal compliment to myself, but as an emphatic expression on the part of the Republicans of Minnesota of their trust in the integrity of the Republican party, and a desire to preserve it intact."

THE BANGOR WATER BILL.

BANGOR, March 1, 1875.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

There is another feature of this bill which is well worth the careful examination of the citizens of Bangor. It will be found in that portion of the twelfth section, which the members of the Legislature from this city state was added by the Committee on Engrossed Bills, or by some other person in Augusta. It enacts that all the provisions of this bill so far as the service and supply of water and the laying down of pipes and the construction of reservoirs and other useful appurtenances for the purpose of said service and supply shall be applicable to the town and inhabitants of Brewer, as therein granted to the city and citizens of Brewer, provided said inhabitants at a legal meeting shall give their consent. While Bangor has but six months to adopt the bill, Brewer may exercise its volition at any time before or after Bangor shall have completed its work. The probabilities are that Brewer will accept the bill without objection, for it will cost it nothing to do so. No part of the cost of dam or of the cost of flowage, and the building of locks and sluices for the passage of rafts will fall on its tax-payers or embarrass its treasury. The Bangor Water Loan bonds will pay for a dam, lock and sluice and Bangor tax-payers must pay for flowage. The "Water Board" will have no jurisdiction across the river, for the grant is to the town and inhabitants of Brewer and not to the city of Bangor.

That portion of the twelfth section which gives the right to the Bangor Water Company or any person named in its act of incorporation to recover of the city for "moneys advanced or services performed to secure the introduction of water into the city," is of considerable interest to some one, as well as to the citizens of Bangor. What amount of money has been advanced nor by how many persons, [illegible] and what compensation will be claimed for services performed no one can now tell, nor can an estimate be made of the amount which may be awarded by the "three suitable men" who may be appointed "to determine the amount of such claim." Judging from the decision of arbitration in quite recent cases in which damages have been demanded by individuals against the city for grading streets, it will be safe to anticipate large awards against this hitherto considered safe victim. Those who are conversant with the merits and results of claims which respectable arbitrators have decided within the last year against the city of Bangor may well shrink from assuming such an indefinite and hazardous liability. This seems certain, that whatever sum this twelfth section may ultimately call for, will have to be borne by the city in addition to the three hundred and fifty thousand dollars of bonds which are to be used by the Water Board in defraying the expenses which may be incurred by the city, in carrying into effect the power granted to it. This twelfth section grants powers and rights to the Water Company, individuals and to the town of Brewer, but nothing to Bangor. Upon this city it only imposes a liability.

A lawyer of ordinary acuteness could probably point out many other peculiarities of this bill which might give rise to legal controversies. But enough has been done perhaps to induce the legal voters of Bangor to consider with some care the question: Can the supplying the city of Bangor with water from the Penobscot river with the incidental advantages arising from the creation of a water power be successfully accomplished under this bill within any reasonable time? or would it be better to begin anew with a system which would meet with a general approval?

In this connection may be considered the "incidental advantages." By section three the city is authorized to lease or sell any surplus power it may acquire by building or purchasing a dam, but is not authorized to take any land for the site of factories by which this surplus power may be used. What it will be able to realize from such sales will necessarily be limited by the prices individual owners of such sites may demand for them. These owners will not probably object to the city, assuming the cost of creating a water power with its "incidental" liabilities which it cannot sell or lease without admitting them to such a share of the proceeds as they may insist upon, but they may require the Water Board to pay them for all the land they take for a dam and other conveniences. It would seem then that the incidental advantages will not immediately accrue to the city.

Other points might be dwelt upon, such as the hindrances which controversies about conflicting powers make to prompt action. The depreciation of the city's bonds issued by authority not clearly defined. The liability to numerous lawsuits. The disputes about the right and authority for levying taxes. The large but indefinite amount of damages the city would have to pay and the difficulty in fixing upon a site of the dam.

But all these may be left to the judgment of voters. This is all for the present.

W. C. C.

A GOOD BEGINNING. In connection with the announcement that the Senate has confirmed the appointment of Ebenezer T. Fox, Esq., as Collector of Customs for this District, the public will be glad to learn that the new Collector has determined to make no recommendation for the filling of the vacancy caused by his promotion, but will conduct the business of the office with one Deputy less than the force hitherto employed. The great familiarity with all the details of the business which Mr. Fox has attained by his long and faithful application to the duties of chief deputy enables him to make this reduction in the force which might be impossible for a newly-appointed and inexperienced official without detriment to the efficiency of the office. Mr. Fox is impressed with the public demand for retrenchment wherever it is practicable, and while authorized to continue the present number of employes, has voluntarily proposed a reduction which will impose more arduous duties upon himself. It is also his intention to adopt such other economical measures from time to time as may be consistent with a due regard for the interests of the public. It is not considered that the Bangor Custom House has been extravagantly conducted hitherto, on the contrary, it is regarded by the Department as one of the most economical in the country, considering the duties imposed, and in taking extra labor upon himself in order to effect a very considerable saving in public expenditure, Mr. Fox will receive the warm approval to which this course entitles him.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

The recent Congressional address to the people of the South by the Democratic members of Congress is not meeting with much favor in that section of the country on account of the implication that the Southern whites have been behaving so badly as to need this Congressional expostulation.

The Nashua Telegraph says a report prevails that Rev. Mr. Stone, Prohibition candidate for Congress in the First New Hampshire district, has withdrawn in favor of Mr. Whitehouse, the Republican candidate. This is as it should be not only in the First district, but in the other districts also.

A report having been sent from Washington that the House Committee on Elections find, by an official canvass of the Arkansas vote of 1872, that Baxter had a clear majority over Brooks, members of that Committee authorize the statement that no such official canvass has been made by them, and that they have not examined the vote cast for Governor.

A writer in the Claremont, (N. H.) Eagle says that he is so strong a temperance man he has said in former years that he should vote the temperance ticket if he had to vote alone. But on mature consideration he thinks that the third party movement had better be abandoned for the present. He regards Mr. Cheney as sound a temperance man as Mr. White, but his main reason is the overshadowing importance of national issues at this time. He concludes his letter as follows:

"I am an old man; I have passed the meridian. I shall vote to sustain Grant, Sherman and Sheridan, if I live until the second Tuesday of March next, not because my zeal in the prohibition cause has abated one iota, but because I think that all side issues should be laid aside on that day."

The extraordinary session of the Senate, which will commence on Friday next, will not, it is supposed, continue more than a week. The business will be in secret session on the Hawaiian and Belgian treaties, and action on such nominations as the President may make, and which will be few in number.

It seems to me that Mrs. Moulton's testimony adds not a feather's weight to the anti-Beecher case. If Beecher is innocent, and that is the issue to be tried, then is Moulton co-conspirator in perjury with Tilton, and if Mrs. Tilton be excluded on the technical ground that she is one with her husband, then are Moulton and his wife one, and her testimony is not even cumulative.—"An Old Lawyer" in New York Herald.

Temperance, Reform, Progression.

TO THE VOTERS OF CITY OF BANGOR.

A public Caucus of the Temperance voters of Bangor will be held at CITY HALL, on TUESDAY EVENING, March 2d, at 7.30 o'clock, for the purpose of nominating a Mayor, and arrange for the nomination of other city officers, to be supported at the annual election, March 8th.

Every legal voter of Bangor who has the best interests of our city at heart, who is desirous of a thorough and impartial enforcement of the Prohibitory Law, and the overthrow of those who assume to be expounders of the law instead of executors, is expected to be present and assist in arresting the [illegible] of crime, pauperism, famine and death.

The noble efforts of our self sacrificing women in restoring the victims of rum to manhood, the fearless stand that our reformed men have taken in the cause of God and humanity, the public sentiment that pervades our atmosphere, and which is not a "farce"—all tell us that the hour has come when we may secure that for which we have so long labored.

We seek to build up our city by beginning at the foundation. With temperance and morality as our corner stone the material welfare of our city must necessarily take an upward and onward course.

The dam at Treat's Falls, which for a quarter of a century has been the ignis fatuus of the poor working man of Bangor, is now about to become a reality.

TEMPERANCE MEN AND REFORMERS OF BANGOR! Lose not this opportunity! It is the first golden one that has ever been presented to you. Move together in solid and unbroken ranks for the development of the mental and material resources of our noble city.

Per order of City Temperance Committee.
M. P. C. WITHERS, Chairman.

MAINE NEWS.

SPRING ELECTIONS.

A Democratic Mayor and City Judge in Portland—Republican Majority in the City Council.

PORTLAND, March 1. The Democrats have elected their Mayor, Roswell M. Richardson, who has 2457 votes; George P. Wescott, Republican, 1890; scattering 27. Against last year, Sturdivant, Democrat, 1378; Wescott 1899; scattering 5. The Democratic majority is 434, against a Republican majority of 507 last spring.

The Board of Aldermen stands five Republicans to two Democrats; the Council twelve Republicans to eight Democrats, Ward one having one Republican on all save Mayor and Judge, and Ward five having chosen two Democratic Councilmen, Harmon and Halsted. In Ward six one Councilman, Hale, Republican, failed of an election, but will probably secure it on a second trial. The majority of Knight for Municipal Judge will be only about half that of Mayor. Rev. Dr. Thomas Hill, formerly President of Harvard College, is elected one of the School Committee.

Kennebunk Reported Democratic.

A Kennebunk despatch to the Argus states that that town has gone Democratic by a great majority—the first time for 18 years.

Lewiston Redeemed—A Gain of over 700.

LEWISTON, March 1. The Republican nominee for Mayor of this city, Edmund Russell, received 586 majority, over H. B. Bartlett. Last year the Democratic majority was 147. The Board of Aldermen stand as follows: Republicans 5; Democrat 1; no choice 1. The Council is made up as follows: Republicans 15, Democrats 2; no choice 4.

Auburn Republican.

In Auburn James Dingley, a Republican, nominated on a citizens' ticket, was elected Mayor. A majority of the Council is Republican.

Close Vote in Bath—Citizens' Candidate Elected.

BATH, March 1. Hon. Wm. Rice, Citizens' candidate, was re-elected Mayor of this city to-day after a spirited contest, by a vote of 493 to 111 for John H. Kimball, Esq., regular Republican, and 18 scattering.

No Election of Mayor in Rockland—The Result of Bolting—The City Strongly Republican.

ROCKLAND, March 1. At the municipal election to-day there was no election of Mayor. The Republican vote was divided between John Lovejoy, regular nominee, and Allen Bowler, prohibition candidate. Official vote, Bryant, Democrat, 608; Lovejoy 481; Bowler 501. Four Republican and 1 Democratic Aldermen are elected, and no election in two wards, which will probably return Republicans. Twelve Republicans and four Democrats elected to the Common Council, and five vacancies to be filled to-morrow.

Saco Republican over all.

SACO, March 1. George A. Carter, Republican, is re-elected Mayor by 97 majority in a total vote of 1041, plurality over Ira C. Doe, Democrat and Citizens' candidate, 156. The Republicans elect 7 Aldermen and 12 Councilmen, the Democrats and Citizens two Councilmen. H. J. Rice and George T. Calef got a few votes for Mayor from dissatisfied tax-payers.

MAIL ROBBER CAUGHT.

The Assistant Postmaster at Pittsfield Confesses the Theft of Money from the Mails.

AUGUSTA, March 1. Lewis E. Morton, Assistant Postmaster at Pittsfield, was brought before Commissioner Bradbury to-day, by Special Agent Bigelow, charged with robbing the mails. He made a full confession of his crimes to Agent Bigelow, and acknowledged that he had stolen four or five hundred dollars more or less. He was bound over in the sum of $1,000 to the next term of the District Court in Portland. Morton is a young man about 25 years of age, and a native of Hallowell, where his relatives reside. He has hitherto sustained a good reputation.

FROM AUGUSTA.

Slight Fire.

AUGUSTA, March 1. A wooden house on Bridge Hill in this city, owned by Howard Doe, of Boston, and occupied by the family, took fire this forenoon and the roof was consumed before the fire department subdued the flames. Loss about $500; insured.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

FORTY-THIRD CONGRESS—Second Session.

WASHINGTON, March 1.

Senate.

The credentials of J. P. Christiancy of Michigan were filed.

The Clerk of the House appeared at 12.20 p. m. with the bill to provide against the invasion of States, to prevent the subversion of their authority and to maintain the security of elections, known as the "Force Bill," and announced its passage by the House.

Mr. Edmunds asked that the bill be read the first time and referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. Hamilton objected to its reference, after the expiration of the morning hour, under the 24th rule.

The Vice President overruled the objection and debate followed.

Mr. Bayard appealed from the decision of the chair but subsequently withdrew his appeal. The bill was then read by its title.

Messrs. Bayard, Thurman and others objected to its second reading to-day and it remains on the Vice President's table till to-morrow.

House.

Mr. Cox of New York presented fifty-five memorials from cutlers, blacksmiths, jewellers, machinists, manufacturers of brass, agricultural implements, files, knives, edge tools, etc., in various places, for the reduction of the specific tax to one per cent. on all grades and descriptions of steel.

In accordance with the agreement made Saturday night the reading of the journal was dispensed with. After the passage by unanimous consent of two bills, one for the filling of vacancies in the Pay Department and the other authorizing the appointment of three additional gaugers for Philadelphia.

Mr. Hoar moved to suspend the rules so as to take up and agree to the resolution of the Louisiana Select Committee recognizing Kellogg and recommending the House to take measures to reseat the members of the Legislature.

The House refused to suspend the rules by 134 yeas to 85 nays.

Mr. Hoar then moved to suspend the rules so as to divide the resolution and take a separate vote on each. Carried—yeas 172, nays 65.

The resolution in regard to reseating members was then agreed to without division.

Mr. Hoar of Mass. then moved the adoption of the resolution sustaining the Kellogg Government. Carried—yeas 163, nays 89.

Mr. Garfield reported the Deficiency bill and moved to go into Committee of the whole on the Sundry Civil bill which was agreed to.

Several bills reported by the Committee on Commerce were passed during the morning hour, among them the Senate bill to promote economy and and efficiency in the Marine Hospital service. At the expiration of the morning hour the Senate resumed the consideration of the Tax and Tariff bill.

CRITICISMS ON THE "FORCE" BILL.

What the Tribune Says.

NEW YORK, March 1. The Tribune says of the passage of the "Force" bill that its provisions are so flagrantly at variance with the principles of all free government and with the most characteristic theories of the American system that many of us, though we knew the desperate character of the Republican majority at Washington, could not believe it possible for the measure to pass either House of Congress; but we underrated the strength of the bad elements which are driving the party to its ruin. The bill has passed the House of Representatives. Staunch Administration men like Mr. Willard and Mr. Hawley opposed it with a zeal that did them the greatest credit, and members who are entitled by commanding ability, fair fame and large record of patriotic service (though not, perhaps, by an inky and vulgar insolence,) to be looked upon as the leaders of the party, stood against it in solid array. If every Republican Representative who thinks with Messrs. Willard and Hawley had used as plain speech as they did, the bill would probably have never passed.

The Herald Condemns the Whole Bill.

The Herald condemns the "Force" bill from beginning to end, saying that the limitation of time is no palliation for the principle involved in establishing arbitrary power and Cæsarism upon the President. It does not consider the passage of the bill through the Senate as probable. The fact that so many Republicans of the House voted against the "Force" bill is a good symptom, and if they and the press of their party would assume a bolder tone and denounce the tendencies toward arbitrary power with the true spirit of freemen, the seductive cup might easily be dashed to the ground.

Sharp Words from the Times.

The Times says both the civil rights bill and the "Force" bill are unsustained by any clear authority in the Constitution. Whatever else they may do they accustom the country to such a treatment of the Constitution as that instrument ought never to receive. Though it be the alphabet of political instruction in this country it cannot be too often repeated that the Constitution is the most precious thing we have, and must be respected if we expect to secure the advantages of a free and well ordered Government. There is one important indication by which we can judge of the probable effect of the passage of political bills on the party, and that is the attitude of leading Republicans with reference to them in Congress. Many of the best Southern Republicans were opposed to the civil rights bill. Mr. Carpenter showed by his admirable speech how it is regarded by another numerous section. It would be folly to suppose that views so clear and so logically expressed as those of Mr. Carpenter, would not win many adherents if they did not already have them; but the fact is that Mr. Carpenter's speech only put in more than usually distinct and forcible form, ideas that generally prevail in the North among Republicans, and the same may be said of the speeches of Mr. Ward, Gen. Hawley and Judge Poland on the "Force" bill. The Republican party does not want that bill. It expressly wishes not to have it. It does not believe it necessary. There has been no demand for it. The men who have allowed Butler to bully and wheedle and cajole them into voting for it, do not represent the Republican party. On the contrary its opponents represent that the party and their policy (the policy of common sense) as the only one by which the party can afford to stand.

The World's Opinion.

The World says the "Force" bill has had no advocates outside of Congress, and those in Congress who voted for it will find if it becomes a law that their votes will be likely to advise their political death.

The Sun Sees a Third Term in It.

The Sun says the passage of the "Force" bill signifies the Republican organization has passed into the hands of the most disreputable and unscrupulous members of the party, and that Grant will be able to dictate his own renomination by the Republican convention. It puts the Republican party on record as the revolutionary party unmindful of constitutional restrictions or motives of honesty, and in favor of conferring despotic powers upon an officer who, according to the theory of our government, is simply the servant of the people. These short-sighted politicians will yet learn, however, that the people are more powerful than either President or Congress.

THE TILTON-BEECHER CASE.

Opening of the Court Monday Morning.

NEW YORK, March 1. The Brooklyn City Court room was filled again this morning with the usual throng of spectators, lawyers, and others. Judge Neilson was early in his place. Mr. Tilton sat behind his counsel, ex-Judge Beach. The defendant and his wife occupied their usual seats, and with them were seated Col. Beecher's wife. Mrs. Tilton and her friends were absent. Shortly after the opening of the Court,

Gen. Tracey Continued His Address.

He had already shown them, he said, that after the Woodhull publication Beecher, by the advice of the mutual friend, Francis D. Moulton, had accepted the policy of silence. In 1870, Tilton's difficulty with Mr. Bowen arose, and was augmented, so Tilton says, by Mr. and Mrs. Beecher. On December 26th, the charges against Mr. Beecher were made; and it was then determined to suppress them. Bowen promised to support Tilton in his charges against Beecher, and got him to take the letter to him, but Bowen after this became Tilton's enemy. Two days after this Tilton found himself deserted by Bowen, and had made himself inimical to Mr. Beecher. The next day Moulton comes and carries away all the letters, not as an emblem of war, but one of peace. The only criticism to be passed on the defendant was that, having accepted the policy of silence, he endeavored faithfully to carry it out.

Tilton's and Moulton's Way of Conducting the Scandal.

Mr. Tilton himself was then covered all over with stories of scandal—those raised by Bessie Turner—and his wife threatened to leave him for his infidelities and cruelties to her. The stories must be suppressed at any cost. Bessie Turner was compelled to sign a retraction of her stories in order to stop her, and she was sent away to prevent her tattling. Then Tilton published the stories circulated by Mr. Bowen against Mr. Beecher in the Golden Age. Mrs. Tilton's stories about her treatment must also be suppressed, and she was led to believe that the stories must be denied. Mr. Tilton's manner of conducting the affair was to make statements and publish them, while Moulton's way was to preserve silence and allow other parties to make statements.

A Blackmailing Scheme to be Proved.

With Mr. Beecher, silence was a duty, but with Moulton and Tilton it was only policy. They took these means to keep the scandal alive. The failure of the Golden Age had blasted the hopes of Tilton and he was compelled to look for other avenues of success. The money drawn from Bowen in April, 1872, was all expended on his paper. He would show them that the friends of Tilton applied in December, 1872, to the friends of Beecher, and advised them to buy the New York Express, which was then for sale, and for Beecher to take charge of it, while Tilton should go abroad for some months, and when he came back to take a foremost place on the editorial staff of that paper. Not only were these meetings held in this city, but also in New York, and twice at the Union League Club. This was nothing but a scheme for blackmailing Beecher. Counsel would show them so by a witness who was known throughout the country almost as well as the defendant himself.

A Fictitious Letter.

Here was a letter sent by a complaining friend, which was a fiction invented by Mr. Tilton, and never received by him. The letter in opening says: "Thanks for your good letter of bad advice." This letter ended with a threat that, if he should speak, it would send a thunderbolt through other hearts. Why was this letter published, if not as a threat of exposure to Mr. Beecher's friends. Moulton and Tilton had not destroyed the letters, as they promised, and were now using them as a means of threat and menace to Mr. Beecher, and about this time I am reminded by my associate that Mr. Tilton had drawn his last dollar out of Woodruff and Robinson. Well, gentlemen, the summer passed, and Mr. Beecher still occupied his pulpit, and Mr. Tilton had found no employment.

A Statement Intended for Secret Publication.

The counsel then went back to Tilton's threatened publication in the Golden Age against Mr. Bowen and Mr. Beecher. We will show you that Tilton endeavored to have this statement published secretly in such manner that it would appear he had nothing to do with it. We will show you that he had an interview on the matter with McKelvey of the Brooklyn Eagle, in which Tilton told McKelvey that his charges against Beecher were those of improper proposals to his wife, but that she resisted him. Tilton did not like to give the paper to McKelvey, but suggested that it should come to him through another party. They went to John N. Harmon's house, who was not in, and a letter with the article enclosed was left at Mr. Harmon's,—but the article was not then published, and did not appear until the following April in the Brooklyn Sunday press. At the time of this publication Mr. Tilton's account with Woodruff & Robinson was closed. The day after it appeared he drew his last cent. They had also heard from Mr. Moulton of the offer made by another party of money for the Golden Age, and when it was not taken why did they exhibit it to Mr. Beecher?

Extortions of Money.

Francis D. Moulton did not act as a highwayman or robber, who cries, "Stand and deliver!" but he held this money in his hand and said to Mr. Beecher, "My God! isn't this friendship?" That is what I call the act of a friend, and Mr. Moulton knew afterwards that he was not taking the loose money of Mr. Beecher, but that he mortgaged his house to receive it. He gave it to Moulton, and then came a letter from Tilton containing the words, "Grace, mercy and peace," and then Tilton kept on for one year, drawing the $5,000 as had been shown them. Mr. Moulton told us that he never was in the habit of lending Tilton money; that he lent him altogether about $1,000 of his own money. Counsel would show them that in May, 1874, this friend of Tilton goes to a friend of Mr. Beecher and demands another sum of $5,000, but they must not forget that the original demand was for $10,000, but was compromised ultimately for $5,000. The Golden Age was still on Tilton's hands, bankrupt and useless. Tilton was ready to give it away, and was absolutely begging for some person to take it. Of all these interviews between his friends and those of Mr. Beecher with regard to the newspaper enterprise Mr. Tilton was informed. Counsel would show them that Mr. Tilton knew of the negotiations going on with Mr. Beecher and countenanced them, and also that the Bacon letter was then in preparation. This second scheme to obtain money was denounced by Mr. Beecher's friends as a blackmailing operation, and they advised that not a cent should be given. Mr. Tilton's friend then said, "We will publish the Bacon letter." The money was not paid, and consequently the Bacon letter was published; but, nevertheless, the money was not paid, and Tilton did not get his $5,000.

Tilton and Moulton Defied.

The counsel then went back to the publication of the tripartite agreement. He would remember that Tilton would not sign it without the alteration of the clause relating to him. Tilton argued that the publication of the tripartite agreement by Mr. Beecher's friends put him (Tilton) in the position of having wronged Mr. Beecher. The publication, which was an accident, was to be charged to Mr. Beecher. On May 1st, Mr. Beecher was summoned to an interview in the Remsen street study, when the publication of the story was threatened. Beecher had stood their threats and charges for four long years, and now Mr. Beecher, who was put in this position by the indiscreet conduct of a friend, defied them, and when they used their threats he told them to let the storm come. On the following Saturday he went there and told them that he welcomed the conflict, but would not drag his church into it, as he would resign. When the letter of resignation was shown Moulton it nearly took his breath away, and he told Tilton. They were both amazed at the temerity of the man whom they both expected to lead around for some time. On June 1st, he indited that letter, when he expected to preach his last sermon. This letter told Moulton that if he published it he (Beecher) would also publish a statement that would stand the test of the Judgment day.

Moulton's Letter to Beecher.

When Mr. Beecher wrote that letter containing the inference that he thought he was going to preach his last sermon to Plymouth church, Mrs. Moulton sent a letter in reply telling Mr. Beecher not to be afraid; that if the whole story be published to-morrow he (Beecher) could stand, and yet Moulton, when on the witness-stand, tells a story covering a period of three years previous, when Mr. Beecher was confessing his crime. When they heard the defendant's story and took it in connection with this letter of Mr. Moulton's they would reject the testimony given by Moulton.

Moulton's Memory.

Gen. Tracey next referred to Moulton's memory as a witness, and his frequent answer, "I don't know." He remembered so as to give almost verbatim Tilton's introduction of Mrs. Woodhull at the Steinway Hall meeting, but could not remember the subject of her address.

A Reference to Mrs. Moulton's Testimony.

After recess the counsel said that the threats of publishing the scandal were stopped by Beecher asserting that he would meet it boldly. In referring to Mrs. Moulton he said she was forced to take the stand against her will. If she testified in favor of Beecher she blasted her husband, her home and her family, but if against Beecher she saved her husband from a charge of perjury. Her whole manner indicated that she was repeating a long lesson. In regard to the interview of July 10, 1874, in which she said for four hours she tried to persuade Beecher to make a confession to his church, counsel said that with eminently satisfactory evidence it would be shown that Beecher was engaged at home with a well-known gentleman, and that the only conversation he had with her was on the first of May, and it lasted half an hour.

The Card Beecher Refused to Sign.

Gen. Tracey next referred to a card which Moulton insisted Beecher should sign, stating that he (Beecher) had committed an "offence" but no "crime" against Tilton. This was when he (Tracey) was first called into the case, and he tried to convince Moulton that Beecher could not do it. Moulton insisted and Beecher refused unless the card should stipulate what the offence was, so clearly that no person could misunderstand it. Would he have refused if he had been guilty?

The Opening Argument Concluded.

When counsel had opened the case the connection of the letters with it would be clearly seen and the letters would explain themselves. The facts already presented and those yet to come would show the matter clearly and they would see when the summing up came that every part pointed to the innocence rather than the guilt of Beecher.

After a general reference to the case General Tracey concluded his opening for the defence and the court adjourned for the day.

Stapleton, Financial Secretary.

While Mr. A. B. Perkins was driving a horse-sled across the Penobscot yesterday morning, just above the upper dam at Orono, the horse broke through and was rescued with difficulty. The accident was caused by the wearing away of the ice underneath, owing to the recent rise of water.

"DON'T FAIL TO READ IT." The article copied from the Chicago Inter-Ocean, on our first page to-day, giving an account of the situation in the South as it appeared to a Northern visitor. The actual facts of history form the solid basis of the satire which pervades a recital that will be found of interest.

At the conclusion of the business, stirring speeches were made by A. S. Carlisle, W. McGlade, J. W. Nulton, E. E. Green, W. S. McDonald, J. W. Robinson, T. Finnican, W. E. S. Rice and Henry Hill, after which the Reformers' Battle Hymn was sung with a will. Remarks were made by Mark Thompson, Wellington Prouty, John Harthorn and George Moore, of the Veazie Reform Club. Excellent remarks were also made by Mr. Mason, after which the meeting closed with singing, "Nearer my God to Thee."

GOOD TEMPLARS' FUNERAL. Under date of yesterday a Medway correspondent writes: "The funeral of Miss Cyrena J. Fowler was held at the Congregational Church yesterday. The officers and members of Golden Rule Lodge, of which the deceased was a member, and Sylvan Lodge of Mattawamkeag, were present. The Rev. Mr. Evans, of Bangor Theological Seminary, delivered the funeral sermon, after which the Lodges formed in procession, and marched to the grave, where the ceremonies laid down in the ritual of their order were performed."

POLICE COURT BUSINESS. For the municipal year, ending March 1, the fees accruing from Police Court business amounted to $1,299 18, which was about $40 less than the preceding year, the figures for the twelve months ending March 1, 1874, showing a total of $1,337. During each of the two years before that time about $1,100 were received. The criminal cases on the docket which were disposed of during the year ending yesterday were numbered from 6,189 to 6,926, inclusive. Over a hundred cases, not entered on the docket, were for searches made for liquor where none was found, there are also several warrants out, which have not been returned by the officers. The civil business for the year was fully up to the average of preceding years. The manner in which Judge Goodenow has disposed of the large number of cases brought before him has proved eminently satisfactory to the law-abiding citizens of Bangor.

THE HANDEL ASSOCIATION CONCERT.

On last evening the Handel Association gave their first concert for this season in Norombega Hall. It has been the common misfortune of nearly every entertainment the present winter to occur on a stormy night, and that of the Handels proved no exception to the rule. There was, however, an audience of several hundred ladies and gentlemen, who evidently appreciated the efforts made for the promotion of musical culture in this city. Since their organization the Handel Association has shown its usefulness in this direction, and has more than vindicated its right to a liberal and hearty support by the citizens.

The programme last evening was well arranged, offering selections for the gratification of a variety of tastes. The ladies and gentlemen of the Association, under the direction of Mr. F. S. Davenport, rendered the two choruses from the oratorio of "Elijah" in a manner that did credit to their musical ability and to the excellent instruction which they have received. Andrews' Orchestra contributed very materially to the success of the evening, their rendition of the overture to "Fra Diavolo" being so fine as to secure an encore, in response to which selections from the "Puritan's Daughter" were given. From the Orchestra were furnished two instrumental soloists, Messrs. Harlow and McQuown, who were also obliged to reappear in answer to hearty applause. The solo parts by Mrs. Crowell, Mrs. Wasgatt, Mrs. Shaw, Mr Moody and Mr. Haynes; the duet by Mrs. Crowell and Mr. Holbrook, and the quartette by the Messrs. Holden, Curtis, Sullivan and Farrington, were all well rendered and enthusiastically received, in several instances supplemented with an encore. Excellent piano accompaniment was furnished by Mrs. F. S. Davenport and Mrs. Jewell.

The committee by whom the concert was gotten up consisted of Messrs. Crowell, Sullivan and Andrews, and the business details were ably conducted by Mr. W. E. Brown. Judging by the enthusiasm of the audience, the concert was fully appreciated and enjoyed by all present. The following is the Report of the Cemetery Board.

The Cemetery Board of Bangor have prepared their report for the municipal year just closed, which will be presented to the City Council, and is as follows:

To the City Council:—The Cemetery Board respectfully reports that you appropriated $350 for cemetery purposes for 1874. Of this sum $196.88 was expended at Maple Grove Cemetery, on the Pushaw road, in making culvert, main road and paths, also grubbing out the foul growth, repairing hearse-house and fences.

In the Finson road cemetery (Oak Grove) additional lots have been staked out and a new and suitable hearse-house erected, at an expense of $154. Your Board have delayed recommending a final removal of bodies from the "Old Levant" road burying ground to the new grounds on the Finson road, for the purpose of giving interested parties time to make their own changes, if they chose to do so, and some have attended to it; but we think the time has come for the city to finish up the work, and we recommend that it be done as early in the coming season as practicable, and that the old lot be sold.

Your Board expected to have occasion to use the unexpended balance of appropriation of $107.12 in making needed repairs in the Mount Hope grounds, an extension of Mount Hope avenue to the line of the town of Veazie, but that town not being ready, we have delayed all work in these grounds, hoping they would meet us during the coming year.

We consider it of great importance to connect Mount Hope avenue with a road from Veazie. By so doing the avenue might be kept broke out, whereas it is now practically closed in winter, so that our citizens have no practical benefit of it except in the summer season.

Cemetery Board 1874.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Advertiser concludes an account of the recent prolonged and exciting struggle in the House, with the following tribute to the admirable conduct of Speaker Blaine:

"During the whole contest, which has been, the most exciting and most trying of the session, the Speaker has won golden opinions on all sides. His readiness, his accuracy, his wonderful tact, his abounding resources, his constant courtesy and good temper were never so thoroughly tested as during this prolonged and sometimes angry contest, and he has borne the test in a manner which fitly crowns his honorable career as a presiding officer."

A DREAM.

BY MISS H. R. HUDSON.

The early moonlight, faint and meek,
Fell in white lines across her bed,
And turned to gems on lash and cheek
The tears that until but now been shed.
Sleep, coming with the shadows, brought
A slow relief from grievous thought.

It dulled the present sharp distress,
The sense of loss too hard to bear,
The haunting thought of loneliness,
The imminence of untried care;
She lost remembrance of the pain
That dawn would surely bring again.

She lost the world, so tardily,
Another consciousness was born,
And then, she dreamed that she was free,
Wandering beyond her life, forlorn,
And soul and body still were wed,
Although it seemed that she was dead.

Some mighty power, unseen and strong,
Had cast her in an angry sea.
She strove to breast its billows long,
And, as she struggled wearily,
She saw a low black line of shore,
With light upon it, just before.

And, striving still more urgently,
She almost reached the wished-for land.
Then a great wave rose in the sea,
And bore her over rocks and strand,
Rolled back, and left her there, alone
And helpless in a land unknown.

But while she lay there, torn and bruised,
And dripping with the chilly brine,
She seemed to see, with sense confused,
The darkness round her shine,
To feel a touch that charmed all pain
From broken frame and weary brain.

And One bent near with pitying face,
So grave, so gentle, and so sweet,
So full of promise and of grace—
She smiled, while lying at His feet—
As [illegible] children, home once more,
Forget the grief that came before.

He led her to the inner land—
The night was hard beset by day—
She was content to hold His hand
(It seemed there were no words to say,
Its use she understood so well,
Whatever there could be to tell.)

She saw the place was glad and bright,
With welcome strangeness heavenly fraught;
She had not known it by the sight,
And yet it was not new to thought,
As [illegible] things were there,
Refined to suit a finer air.

A [illegible] flew from above
[illegible] upon her head,
She knew [illegible] for a petted dove
[illegible] long since dead,
[illegible] smiled, as she spoke its name,
And said, "We kept it till you came."

And there were flowers and trees and sky—
All wealth of olden memory,
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible] they are the same,
We kept them for you till you came."

Then suddenly she heard a voice
Like [illegible] well remembered song,
It made her very heart rejoice
At comfort it had waited long.
She knew [illegible] could satisfy,
[illegible] had mourned for stood close by.

Again the radiant Leader smiled—
[illegible] told more than words could say,
"[illegible] not to mourn, my child!
[illegible] keeps all He takes away?"
Again [illegible] "They are the same,
He kept [illegible] for you till you came."

[illegible] a joy that naught can tell,
[illegible] infinitely,
Love, with no fear or parallel,
And sweeter peace that heaven made free,
[illegible] through the glimpses of grace,
A [illegible] seemed to fill the place!

The vision faded, passed away,
And left the darkness blank and cold,
[illegible] the light of dawning day
[illegible] The air was cold.
The cock's shrill [illegible] rising of the sun
[illegible] another day begun.

District Court of the United States, District of Maine.

In the matter of SIMEON F. SMITH, Bankrupt. IN BANKRUPTCY.

This is to give notice that a petition has been presented to the Court, this first day of [illegible], 1875, by Simeon F. Smith, of Hampden, a bankrupt, praying that he may be decreed to have a full discharge from all his debts, provable under the Bankrupt Act, and upon reading said petition, this 24th day of February, 1875,

It is ordered by the Court that a hearing be had upon the same, on the first Monday of May, A. D. 1875, before the Court in Portland, in said District, at 10 o'clock A. M., and that the second meeting of the creditors of said Bankrupt be held before Charles Hamlin, Esq., Register, on the fifth day of April, 1875, and the third meeting of the same on the [illegible] day of April, 1875, and that notice thereof be published in the Bangor Daily Whig and Courier and the [illegible], newspapers printed in said District, once a week for three successive weeks, and once in the weekly Bangor Courier, the last publication to be thirty days at least before the day of hearing, and that all creditors who have proved their debts and other persons in interest, may appear at said time and place, and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

In the District Court of the United States for the District of Maine. In the matter of [illegible] B. [illegible], Bankrupts. In Bankruptcy.

A second and third general meeting of the creditors of said Bankrupts will be held at Bankrupt Court Room in Bangor, in said District, on the 5th day of April, A. D. 1875, at 3 o'clock P. M., before Charles Hamlin, Esq., one of the Registers in Bankruptcy in said District, for the purposes named in the twenty-seventh and twenty-eighth sections of the Bankrupt Act of March 2, 1867.

P. H. APPLETON, Assignee.

feb23 [illegible]

To the Honorable Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court, now holden at Bangor, within and for the County of Penobscot on the first Tuesday of January 1875.

The undersigned, a resident of Bangor aforesaid, libels and informs this Honorable Court that she was married to William F. Auld, at Houlton, on the [illegible] day of October, 1874, by the Rev. Mr. [illegible], [illegible] June, 1874, when said libelee went to work in Woodstock, [illegible] about the 11th day of August, [illegible] Woodstock, and the [illegible] full [illegible] lumbering season to Calais, [illegible] went to Calais in the month of March, 1874, to reside with him there.

Your libelant further shows that he had at this time become a common drunkard. She remained there [illegible] four weeks, during which time he was daily intoxicated and unfit to live, and the last night they ever cohabited together he came home [illegible] under the pretence of finding a [illegible] boarding place, which was the last time they ever cohabited or lived together. This was [illegible], and the following [illegible] he deserted and [illegible] place without [illegible] fault of hers, going to [illegible] unknown to her, and as she believes, [illegible] the State.

She further says that she has made reasonable diligence since the [illegible] his place of residence, but has been unable to do so, and that she has received no support from him during this time.

She therefore prays that the bonds of matrimony now existing between them may be dissolved, believing it to be reasonable and proper, conducive to domestic harmony and consistent with the peace and morality of society.

Dated at Bangor, this 12th day of January, 1875.

ELIZABETH AULD.

PENOBSCOT, ss. January 12, 1875. The above signed Elizabeth Auld before me came, and made oath to the truth of her above [illegible] that said libelee's residence is not known to her, and that she has used reasonable diligence to ascertain the same, but could not.

LIFE IN A PILL-BOX!

PARSONS' PURGATIVE PILLS!

THE

GREAT ANTI-BILIOUS REMEDY.

ONE OR TWO IS A DOSE.

ONLY 25 CTS. A BOX.

IT IS A WELL-KNOWN FACT that a large proportion of diseases begin in the DERANGEMENT OF THE STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.

The Stomach is the great centre which influences the health or disease of the system, abused by excess,

Indigestion,

Giddiness,

Prostration,

Are the natural result. The Liver becomes affected, hence we have

BILIOUS TROUBLES.

The Bowels are deranged, occasioning

Costiveness,

Diarrhœa,

Dysentery.

A necessity has long been felt by physicians and families for

A SAFE AND RELIABLE ANTI-BILIOUS PILL,

Something that should be safe to administer and could be relied on in all cases where a cathartic was required. To meet this demand,

PARSONS'

PURGATIVE PILLS

Were compounded, every property of which has been carefully analyzed by scientific investigation, and are believed to be the

SAFEST, SUREST & MOST RELIABLE FAMILY PILL IN THE WORLD.

PARSONS'

PURGATIVE PILLS

Are composed of cathartics used and approved by all medical practitioners. They do not require the patient to take from six to a dozen, as do most others, but one or two of PARSONS' PILLS, taken as directed, are sufficient except in extreme cases to cure

Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility,
Headache,
Oppression after Eating,
Piles, Heartburn,
Furred Tongue,
Distention of the Stomach and Bowels,
Dizziness, Sick Headache,
Loss of Appetite,
Pain in the Back or Side,
Inflammation of the Kidneys,
&c., &c.

PARSONS'

PURGATIVE PILLS

Are a SAFE, WHOLESOME and NATURAL medicine, and may be relied upon as being the

BEST ANTI-BILIOUS MEDICINE

IN EXISTENCE.

The components of these pills, that are now astonishing everybody, by giving relief in hundreds of cases that have generally been supposed to be incurable, have been used by one of our best physicians in his practice for the last fifty years, with marked success.

IN THE SPRING OF THE YEAR

PARSON'S

PURGATIVE PILLS

ARE INDISPENSABLE TO INVIGORATE AND GIVE TONE TO THE SYSTEM.

BY TAKING

PARSONS'

PURGATIVE PILLS

The body is imbued with

New Life, Health and Regularity.

The liver and heart will be assisted and strengthened to discharge their functions, and the bowels regulated. They do not make the weak weaker, but give

Strength and Vigor

TO THE DIGESTIVE ORGANS.

BAYOLINE QUININE HAIR TONIC.

Something which has long been needed.

Every day we hear of some case of paralysis, softening of the brain or some nervous disorder of the head resulting from the use of hair preparations containing lead, sulphur, bismuth, or other mineral substance equally poisonous. That the use of these preparations is always attended with danger is an undisputed fact. They are dyes, and should not be used for dressing the hair. What has long been needed is a preparation like Bayoline, which is not a restorer or dye, contains neither lead, sulphur, bismuth, or any mineral substance whatever. It is a pure and harmless hair dressing, keeps the hair from falling out, promotes its growth, eradicates dandruff, cleanses the scalp, is not greasy or sticky, does not soil, and always leaves a sense of cleanliness and comfort attained by no other preparation, for its intended purposes it has never been equalled.

To the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Penobscot:

The undersigned, guardian of Ada V., and Laura Leavitt, of Glenburn, in said county, minors, respectfully represents that it is desirable for the best interests of his said wards to sell the real estate hereinafter described, and place the proceeds at interest.

Wherefore your petitioner prays your Honor to grant him a license to sell, at public or private sale, and convey all the real estate whereof they are possessed, being all which they inherited as heirs of their father, Samuel E. Leavitt, late of said Glenburn, deceased (including the reversion of the widow's dower therein.)

GEO. W. HARRIMAN.

Dec 29, 1874.

STATE OF MAINE.

PENOBSCOT, ss. Court of Probate, December Term, A. D. 1874.

Upon the foregoing petition, ORDERED, That said petitioner give public notice to all persons interested, by causing a copy of the petition, and this order thereon, to be published three weeks successively in the Bangor Weekly Courier, a newspaper published in Bangor, in said county, that they may appear at a Court of Probate for said county, to be held at the Probate Office in said Bangor, on the last Tuesday in January next, at ten of the clock in the forenoon, and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

JOHN E. GODFREY, Judge.

"DOUBTLESS THE

Best Cough Medicine

IN THE WORLD."

[From one of the Oldest and very best Houses in America.]

Messrs. CUTLER BROS. & CO.,

CINCINNATI, Ohio, March 15, 1872.

Please send us Ten gross [illegible] and [illegible] gross "Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam." This is doubtless the best Cough Medicine in the World. (Signed) ALLEN & CO.

P. S.—These parties have sold this Balsam for over thirty years.

[From one of Boston's most estimable citizens.]

No. 6 Worcester Sq., BOSTON, March 24, 1872.

Messrs. CUTLER BROS. & CO.

In ordering another small lot of your invaluable Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam, I should like to tell you what I know about it, in order that others may have the benefit of my EXPERIENCE.

Since this Balsam first came to my notice, in 18[illegible], I have kept it constantly in the house, [illegible] allowing myself to be out of it through [illegible]

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS.

It has not failed in a single instance in my own case to afford me desired relief, as I [illegible] my mother, whose by it, as I cannot but believe. It was when she [illegible] Consumption of the Lungs, and although attended by a consulting Physician, her case [illegible] so that she was despaired of her recovery, when an old friend [illegible] persuaded her to try this Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam. The result was most gratifying, I assure you.

LIFE WAS SAVED

RELIEF WAS IMMEDIATE

and recovery rapid. She is now over 80 years old, and is alive and well. Whenever she gets a cold, which happens once in a while, she takes thirty to sixty drops, according to the [illegible] [illegible] the cough, which all [illegible] in a day or two by taking the Balsam only occasionally at night. With the

IRRITATION

is at once subdued, and a good night's sleep ensured. I will mention another case, that of a young lady acquaintance, who

BLED AT THE LUNGS

and coughed fearfully, had night sweats, and was very weak. She had left Boston for her country home, 50 miles away, as we supposed, to die. I sent her a bottle of your Balsam, and soon had the satisfaction to hear that she was much better. She continued taking it for a while and got and is living now, which I attribute to, under [illegible] entirely, to the use of the VEGETABLE PULMONARY BALSAM.

ENTIRELY WELL,

Very truly, yours,
JOHN CAPEN.

As there are many imitations, be careful to get the genuine. Price in large bottles, which are much the cheaper, $1.00; small bottles, old style, 50 cts.

AN OPPORTUNITY

FOR EUROPEAN STUDY & TRAVEL,

At Very Moderate Cost.

A lady of culture and some literary attainments, a native of this State, having joined the school, [illegible] in April with Prof. [illegible] Theil, Director of the International Academy of New York and Berlin, is in correspondence with ladies who desire to accompany her, also with parents who wish to place their daughters [illegible] her more especial care. The projected advantages for culture it [illegible] are offered at less than one-half what they cost would be to parties not possessing the facilities afforded by the International Academy, under plans which have been [illegible] successful operation three or four years.

No loss of time, or accident of any kind whatever, has attended any one of the previous trips. Invalids have joined the classes, and returned in improving health.

THE LINE OF TRAVEL lies through Scotland, Germany, comprises ten weeks' stay in Berlin for study, the best travel, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, Belgium, France and England.

EXPENSES of the entire term of five to six months, comprising first-class travel and board, carriage rides whenever desirable, cost of sightseeing, museums, concerts, etc., lectures at the [illegible] fees for Berlin, private lessons and etc., instruction from the best teachers in music, the [illegible] guages, drawing, etc., the attention and services of a lady throughout, and the course of lectures to be given gratuitously on history, art criticism, and subjects connected with the tour, by Prof. Theil, who has been over most of the ground twelve times, will be $[illegible], gold in advance.

A second party of more general tourists will leave in June under H. B. Colt, General Manager, and join the main party at Berlin, making a brief stay, will go over the entire route, and both will return together to New York about the middle of September.

[illegible] year of [illegible] Marvellous Scientific results of the application of the principles of

BIOMETRY,

Or the Measure of Life.

What is That?

It is the science and art of providing the probable length of life of a person—deducing it from his Ancestry, Constitution (the measure in size, form, color and construction of its various parts, being the signs and Indications,) Habits, Vocation, Residence, Intelligence, Instincts, Health, &c. and whatever else, if else there be, which can affect the probabilities of life.

By the application of this science, Life Risks are [illegible]

AND THE

Lowest Cost of Premiums

TO THE

BEST GRADES,

Lowest Cost. Perfect Security!

TERM-LIFE (LABOR-TERM) INSURANCE,

"NATURAL PREMIUMS."

What is That?

It is adapted to secure to a family, in case of the decease of the bread-winner during the period of his productive labor, an income corresponding to the yearly avails of the latter.

"Natural Premiums" is the true plan of "pay the yearly cost," or "pay as you go," and put nothing into a company which, both on account of cost and security, may better be kept by the insured.

The two SCIENTIFIC IDEAS above named are as yet fully applied only by the AMERICAN

POPULAR

COMPANY.

The idea of GRADING AND RATING Life Risks cannot be applied by any other company already started, since, if it should adopt the method of grading, the best risks now insured in it would of course drop their present policies to take out better ones, to wit, at the lower premiums to which they are entitled, but the inferior risks would stay, and pay the premiums so much less than they ought to be for them.

The idea of Term Life "Natural Premiums" is not applied by the other companies, because, as they say, they would not, on their "average" plan of taking all insured persons at the same premiums, get enough to cover the expense of their numerous losses.

Hence, all other companies "make faces" at the American Popular, and "call names," about which it does not care a fig, if it can only, as it does, secure the approbation of the scientific and thoughtful, and the patronage of the probably long-lived.

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of their street and number, as letters are [illegible] accordingly.

Persons having their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the carriers put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the second trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails—the down town boxes often and the up town [illegible] thirty minutes before closing mails at the office.

Holidays and Sundays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M. Also open evenings from 8½ to 9 P. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to this office.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and return request across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window, when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office and State, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

The public are earnestly recommended to procure Stamped Envelopes with printed return requests, as the expense is low, that letters through [illegible] delivered to the person addressed, [illegible] returned to the writer free of charge.

First class envelopes at [illegible] furnished at $33 to per [illegible]
